

PECHA KUCHA

UGS 303

A “pecha-kucha” is specific type of slide-based oral presentation that is structured to control the flow of information. It is comprised of 20 slides that are programmed to auto-advance every 20 seconds. (Yours will only be 10 slides, so technically you will only be doing half of a pecha-kucha.)

Images:

- This is an opportunity to make something beautiful, as well as make something informative. Use all the resources available to you to put together your slides.
- Original content is encouraged and will result in the highest marks.
- Please use high-quality images. Limit text.

Oration:

- It is essential to rehearse your presentation. While we don’t expect you to be perfect, we do expect you to have some control over what you are trying to say.
- Getting to be comfortable enough with your material that you can deliver your presentation without reading from notes is key, since we all tend to tune out when people read to us. Engage your audience directly, and smile.

Evaluation:

- A: rehearsed, well spoken, cohesive, actively seeking discovery, purposeful and relevant imagery.
- B: controlled, some roughness in delivery, adequate imagery, informative, but not very discursive.
- C: unengaging or unprepared delivery, weak image selection, little discourse or engagement.
- D/F: poorly prepared, poor image selection, no discourse or engagement.

Logistics: Please prepare your Pecha Kucha presentations like this so we can get them working quickly:

1. Use Google Slides
2. Make your 10 slides
3. Within the Google Slides interface select File : Publish to Web (see below)
4. Set slides to auto advance every 10 seconds (you'll change this to 20 seconds in step 6)
5. Leave options unchecked (see below)
6. Modify the 10000 in the link to 20000 (this indicates milliseconds)
7. Copy link
8. Test link & Practice!
9. Email that link to your TA
10. Due by midnight before your presentation
